N. Y. FIGHTERS AT ST. QUENTIN

Men From Empire State Took and Held Objectives Despite Rain, Wind and Machine Gun Fire.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

With the British Army in France, Oct. 1.—Two hundred German prisoners and several officers from advanced positions have already been sent back to rear by the New York troops who have taken and held the greater part of their objectives in the fighting around St. Quentin. The American troops hold the main Hindenburg line positions, despite furious opposition from the Germans.

Since the Yankees broke the first Hindenburg line and carried positions along the second line, they have been meeting less resistance. Troops from Tennessee and North and South Carolina have reached their extreme objectives.

The New York troops encountered many enemy strongholds and were forced to fight every foot of the way, pushing on gallantly in the face of withering machine gun fire, destroying and trampling down their opponents.

Although the Germans counter attacked repeatedly during the last 24 hours, the Americans refused to yield an inch of ground.

The Hindenburg defense system was more complicated and elaborate than was expected. As the New York troops pushed forward the Germans poured out of secret underground passages from the rear, only to be met by Australians who "leapfrogged" the Yanks.

Throughout most of the fighting the Americans were handicapped by a heavy rain and a high wind.

During the fighting in one tunneled section the problem to solve the underground fortress combination of the Hindenburg lines proved unique.

A South Carolina sergeant, leading a squad of German prisoners, asked where the southern entrance of the tunnel was. One of his captives replied that the Yanks had passed it owing to the density of the smoke barrage.

"All right, Jerry," the South Carolina sergeant shouted, "usher us back, we want to peep into that Aladdin's cavern of old Hindenburg."

Covering his prisoners, the sergeant and his men then trailed them to the entrance of the tunnel and then sent one of them ahead to call out any other Germans in the cavern. One hundred and fifty Germans answered the summons with held up hands and joined the sergeant's original group of captives.

The cavern when explored by the Americans was found to be elaborately and sumptuously furnished with officers' billets, a club, a cinema theater, electric lights and other conveniences. There was an amazing labyrinth of galleries and passages.

LITTLE GIRL, HIT BY AN AUTO, DEAD

Elizabeth Coyle, Died in Kingston City Hospital—Was Crossing Street With Sister, Both Hit—Mother Sees Accident.

Monday about noon while little Elizabeth Coyle, 11 years old, and her sister, Catherine, were crossing Delaware Ave., to meet their mother who was standing on the curb they were hit by an auto driven by Henry Heppner of Crane street. The sister was not badly injured, but Elizabeth was injured so seriously she was hurried to the Kingston City Hospital where she died that evening. Her mother accompanied Elizabeth to the hospital and remained at the bedside until the little girl breathed her last. Death was due to internal injuries. In trying to avoid hitting the little girls Heppner ran his car into a tree.

TO IMPOSE SENTENCES.

County Court Reconvenes Thursday Afternoon.

County court will reconvene Thursday at 2 p. m., when sentences will be pronounced by Judge Jenkins on Jerry Isoldi, indicted for gaming in playing craps at 644½ Broadway and on Wright and Coles, two New York State guardsmen, indicted for larceny in stealing a Ford automobile of Clarence Wright of Gardiner. The Philip Hasbrouck embezzlement matter will also come up, he having been indicted several months ago of withholding moneys of the town of Marbletown of which he was supervisor. Hasbrouck is out on bail under a suspended sentence on condition he make restitution to the town and protect his bondsmen. Judge Jenkins has ordered him produced in court and unless the agreement is kept and payments made, the sheriff will be ordered to lock him up and a sentence will follow.

$5,000 FOUND IN TIN CAN IN QUARRY

Joseph Steinhilber Searching Pile of Junk for Lost Knife in Abandoned Stone Quarry He Made His Home Found Lost Jewelry.

Searching through a pile of old junk for a lost jack knife in the old abandoned cement quarry on the high road, just off Hasbrouck avenue, where he made his home, Joseph Steinhilber found $5,000 worth of jewelry in an old tin can. The jewelry had been lost by Bernardo J. Valdes of Cuba, stopping at the Hotel Ansonia in New York city, from his auto in passing through Kingston several weeks ago. Steinhilber turned the find over to the police Monday evening he was rewarded with $50 by Mr. Valdes.

Where Steinhilber Lives.

Joseph Steinhilber is a well known character and has made his home in the lower section of the city for years. For some time he has been sleeping in the abandoned quarry of the Newark Lime & Cement Company.

Sunday morning he missed his old jack knife and started to hunt for it, poking here and there through a pile of old junk that lay in one corner of his quarry home.

In the course of his search he upset an old tin can and the rattle of its contents attracted his attention. Looking in, he was wonderstruck to find a lot of pretty baubles. He did not realize that the baubles were of value.

Shows Officer Reardon.

Finally giving up the search for the lost knife he walked down on the Strand and met Officer Reardon and told him that he had something to show him.

The officer accompanied Joseph to where he had cached his find.

He had them in an old blue handkerchief and as he opeed them the diamonds and other jewels sparkled brightly.

Officer Reardon after a hasty glance at the find was of the opinion that it was part of the lost jewelry that had been reported to the police department by Mr. Valdes.

Taken to Headquarters.

He accompanied Steinhilber and the jewelry to police headquarters where they were identified as part of the missing gems.

Mr. Valdes several weeks ago in passing through Kingston carried the jewelry and five one hundred dollar bills in a black case which was thrown in the bottom of the automobile.

It is thought that when he alighted from the car while crossing to Rhinecliff on the Transport that the bag accidently dropped out of the car onto the ferry floor and was later picked up by some one.

Mr. Valdes got as far as Poughkeepsie before he missed the bag and its valuable contents.

He then hurried back along the road driving slowly with eyes glued to the ground in hopes of seeing the bag. He did not find it and reported the matter to the police and offered a large reward for the recovery of the bag and its contents.

He gave his address as Abogado, Havana, Cuba, and said he was stopping at Hotel Ansonia in New York city.

Notified of Find.

He was notified of the find that had been made and came to Kingston Monday afternoon where he identified the missing jewelry. There are several pieces still missing.

Mystery Surrounds Find.

It is understood that Mr. Valdes gave Steinhilber $50 as a reward for his honesty.

It is thought that whoever found the jewelry and money had placed the jewelry in the old tin can and cached it away in the old cement quarry with the intention of helping himself from the tin can when funds ran low and selling the jewelry piece by piece.

Some of the jewelry is missing which would seem to bear out that theory.

HUNS WARNED

That Reprisals Will Follow Cruelty to Prisoners.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Oct. 1.—Germany has more than met her match in the United States. No single communication since the war began has given as much satisfaction to military men here—American and Entente—as Secretary Lansing's blunt warning to Germany in the shotgun protest.

"Moreover, if the German government should carry out its threat in a single instance, it will be the right and duty of the government of the United States to make such reprisals as will best protect the American forces, and notice is hereby given of the intention of the government of the United States to make such reprisals."

That single paragraph, Entente army officers here said today, will go further in protecting the rights of Americans taken prisoner than anything else. The terrible suffering of British prisoners of war in German prison camps, they say, was due as much to failure of their government, through mistaken notions of sportsmanship, to warn Germany that reprisals were possible than to anything else. At the prisoner of war conference now in progress in Berne, between representatives of the United States and Germany, the latter nation will be warned that she must treat Americans taken prisoners in a humane manner. And it was asserted that steps would be taken to compel her to do so.

"To quicken German understanding, Mr. Lansing said a mouthful," commented a noted foreign military expert on the American reply.

Hurt Playing Football.

The 17 year old son of David Lehner, the shoe dealer on Broadway, is laid up at his parents' home with injuries received Friday playing football. Dr. A. A. Stern, who is attending him, says there is no broken bone but an injury to the kidneys, which can be cured. The boy is getting along finely and may be able to get out inside of two weeks.

NO VOTE FOR N. Y. SOLDIERS ABROAD

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Oct. 1.—No election commission will be permitted to visit the battle fields of France this fall by order of the war department. New York state men and women in the service overseas will not be given an opportunity of voting in the present campaign, through a ruling of the war department. There will be no wastage, however, of the election supplies which were prepared for use overseas, for these will be used in handling the soldier vote of this state in the larger training camps in this country. The election commission which this state proposed to send abroad, and which was to have sailed this week, will remain at home.

The order issued by Benedict Crowell, acting secretary of war, says: "While the war department is desirous of assisting the states in every way possible to take the votes of members of the American Expeditionary Forces in both the primary and general elections, this assistance will necessarily be based on the condition that the taking of the votes will not seriously interfere with military operations. At the present time, owing to the condition and constant movement of our military forces in Europe, it is not considered practicable to permit the commissioners to go to France or England for this purpose; nor is it practicable to attempt to secure in any manner the votes of our soldiers abroad until military conditions are such as to permit it."

The New York state men in the training camps in this country will be afforded an opportunity of voting.

TWO GERMAN DIVISIONS TRAPPED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, Oct. 1.—The annihilation or capture of two complete German divisions in the Argonne forest seemed a certainty today. The two divisions are trapped in the forest which has been practically surrounded by General Gouraud's French army on the west and the American army on the east. The two Allied forces are reported to have effected a junction in the valley of the Aire, on the north of the forest. If they have the last means of retreat for the Germans from the forest has been cut off.

General Gouraud's army is today nearing Monthois and the fall of that important city is believed near. The Germans have been fighting stubbornly, contesting every foot of ground, but the French have pushed them back steadily.

Premier Clemenceau watched the fighting in the Champagne, Sunday. He made his way to a front line trench and watched the fighting from the firing step.

SUDDEN DEATH OF JAMES H. WILLIAMS

Found Sitting in Doorway of Nekos's Candy Kitchen, Corner Broadway and Thomas Street, Unable to Talk—Died on Way to Hospital.

James H. Williams of No. 33 Third avenue, died this morning while being conveyed to the Kingston City Hospital. He was employed by the West Shore in the tower at the Broadway crossing. He had evidently at the completion of his period of duty walked to the corner of Broadway and Thomas street to take the Colonial car to his home. He was found unable to talk in the doorway of the Nekos Candy Kitchen by Mr. Haggerty and John Emmett. A telephone call had been sent to police headquarters for the city ambulance, but later the call was cancelled, as Mr. Williams was conveyed to the Kingston City Hospital in an automobile. As they were preparing to carry him into the hospital it was found that he was dead. He was a man about 60 years of age. This was about 7 o'clock this morning. His wife is Mrs. Hannah Williams.

Milk Dealers Defer Action.

The retail milk dealers of this city at their meeting at the court house last evening discussed the action of the Dairymen's League taken Saturday to raise the wholesale price of milk from the August contract price of 6 cents a quart to 8¾ cents. No action was taken by the retail dealers as to accepting the contract or to raising the retail price per quart.

Flags of Allied Nations.

Judge Clearwater had the front of his law offices on Wall street, in the Ulster County Savings Institution building decorated Monday with eleven silk flags, one for each of the Allied nations in the great world war. The decorations were greatly admired by the many whose attention was attracted by the patriotic display.

FLANDERS AND CAMBRAI DRIVES MAKE PROGRESS

Allied Iron Ring Closes Tighter Around Cambrai and St. Quentin—French Advance in Champagne—Americans Playing Brilliant Part.

Although hostilities have ceased on the Balkan front as a result of the armistice and the British are "mopping up" what is left of the Turkish forces in Palestine, fighting continues fiercely on a great part of the western front.

The fighting there is a gigantic battle between the German and Allied armies, and not a struggle for terrain and strategic position. General Foch is delivering a staggering blow on Ludendorff's force.

This mammoth engagement is entirely different from any other battle of the war on the western front because the Allies have not massed all of their best troops and all of their available artillery at any single point or at any few points but are battering forward, everywhere, from the Yser to the Meuse against the enemy masses.

The Germans must fall back at various points to avoid being utterly smashed, thus permitting the Allies to drive in deep wedges resulting in a realignment of the entire front.

While practically the entire front is aflame Hindenburg cannot shift troops because he is menaced everywhere equally. He must throw them against the oncoming Allies until his forces are shattered and then withdraw the survivors as best he can.

It must be remembered that the struggle is more or less of a man to man fight as the forces now are relatively equal and Foch's wish is to nail the enemy in the present positions and beat them there instead of driving them back to their interior defense lines. To drive them back would shorten the front and thereby give the enemy forces greater density. Thus the resistance opposing the Americans between the Argonne and the Meuse is entirely according to expectations as Ludendorff is pushing up fresh divisions, continually, which he can ill afford to spare in view of the tremendous blows being inflicted at Champagne, Rheims, the Chemin-des-Dames, St. Quentin, Cambrain and in Flander.

London, Oct. 1.—(10:30 a. m.)—British troops have captured the village of Levergies, five miles north of St. Quentin, Field Marshal Haig reported to the war office today.

Cambrai's capture is imminent. English and Canadians are closing in on it steadily.

Field Marshal Haig reported that the Germans have set fire to the city.

Fighting was begun again this morning north of St. Quentin to Cambrai, the British field marshal reported. The villages of Proville and Tilloy were captured in the advance on Cambrai.

London, Oct. 1.—(1:37 p. m.)—British and Belgian forces on the Flanders front have cut the Roulers-Menin road and have advanced within three miles of the German base of operations at Courtrai, it was learned from an authoritative source this afternoon.

Paris, Oct. 1.—Two more villages in Champagne, Binarville and Conde-les-Autry, have been captured by the French and further progress has been made in the district between the Aisne and Vesle rivers, the French war office announced today.

(Binarville is only slightly more than six miles west of Varennes, which the Americans captured in their big drive in the Argonne forest area last week.)

Since September 26 the French have taken over 13,000 prisoners in Champagne and over 300 cannon.

PASS LOAN QUOTAS.

Thirty-Nine Towns in New York District Over Top.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Oct. 1.—Thirty-nine towns in the New York district have passed their quotas for the fourth Liberty loan, it was announced here today. The number is expected to exceed a hundred before nightfall, according to figures which are pouring in steadily.

Today is "China Day" at the Altar of Liberty in Madison Square, and among the leading speakers will be V. K. Wellington Koo, the Chinese minister to the United States.

Official tabulations in New York city are far behind the unofficial total as it is reported that the clerks at the federal reserve bank are swamped with pledges.

Austria Mourns.

$5,000 FOUND IN TIN CAN IN QUARRY

Joseph Steinhilber Searching Pile of Junk for Lost Knife in Abandoned Stone Quarry He Made His Home Found Lost Jewelry.

Searching through a pile of old junk for a lost jack knife in the old abandoned cement quarry on the high road, just off Hasbrouck avenue, where he made his home, Joseph Steinhilber found $5,000 worth of jewelry in an old tin can. The jewelry had been lost by Bernardo J. Valdes of Cuba, stopping at the Hotel Ansonia in New York city, from his auto in passing through Kingston several weeks ago. Steinhilber turned the find over to the police. Monday evening he was rewarded with $50 by Mr. Valdes.

Where Steinhilber Lives.

Joseph Steinhilber is a well known character and has made his home in the lower section of the city for years. For some time he has been sleeping in the abandoned quarry of the Newark Lime & Cement Company.

Sunday morning he missed his old jack knife and started to hunt for it, poking here and there through a pile of old junk that lay in one corner of his quarry home.

In the course of his search he upset an old tin can and the rattle of its contents attracted his attention. Looking in, he was wonderstruck to find a lot of pretty baubles. He did not realize that the baubles were of value.

Shows Officer Reardon.

Finally giving up the search for the lost knife he walked down on the Strand and met Officer Reardon and told him that he had something to show him.

The officer accompanied Joseph to where he had cached his find.

He had them in an old blue handkerchief and as he opeed them the diamonds and other jewels sparkled brightly.

Officer Reardon after a hasty glance at the find was of the opinion that it was part of the lost jewelry that had been reported to the police department by Mr. Valdes.

Taken to Headquarters.

He accompanied Steinhilber and the jewelry to police headquarters where they were identified as part of the missing gems.

Mr. Valdes several weeks ago in passing through Kingston carried the jewelry and five one hundred dollar bills in a black case which was thrown in the bottom of the automobile.

It is thought that when he alighted from the car while crossing to Rhinecliff on the Transport that the bag accidently dropped out of the car onto the ferry floor and was later picked up by some one.

Mr. Valdes got as far as Poughkeepsie before he missed the bag and its valuable contents.

He then hurried back along the road driving slowly with eyes glued to the ground in hopes of seeing the bag. He did not find it and reported the matter to the police and offered a large reward for the recovery of the bag and its contents.

He gave his address as Abogado, Havana, Cuba, and said he was stopping at Hotel Ansonia in New York city.

Notified of Find.

He was notified of the find that had been made and came to Kingston Monday afternoon where he identified the missing jewelry. There are several pieces still missing.

Mystery Surrounds Find.

It is understood that Mr. Valdes gave Steinhilber $50 as a reward for his honesty.

It is thought that whoever found the jewelry and money had placed the jewelry in the old tin can and cached it away in the old cement quarry with the intention of helping himself from the tin can when funds ran low and selling the jewelry piece by piece.

Some of the jewelry is missing which would seem to bear out that theory.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Rome, Oct. 1—Czar Ferdinand of Bulgaria, will abdicate his throne in favor of his son, the Vatican learns in advices from Vienna.

Parisians See Turks Finish.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, Oct. 1.—The signing of the armistice between the Allies and Bulgaria caused great excitement here. Members of the chamber of deputies are expressing the belief that Turkey will soon follow Bulgaria's lead.

Lowe With Navy Yard.

Architect George E. Lowe, who has offices at 261 Fair street, is about to close same owing to his accepting a responsible position with the U. S. government at the navy yard, New York city. Mr. Lowe has been notified to report for duty on October 5. Mr. Lowe and family will probably locate in New York city for some time in the near future.

The young man's father and sisters immediately left for the camp.

HUNS WARNED

That Reprisals Will Follow Cruelty to Prisoners.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Oct. 1.—Germany has more than met her match in the United States. No single communication since the war began has given as much satisfaction to military men here—American and Entente—as Secretary Lansing's blunt warning to Germany in the shotgun protest.

"Moreover, if the German government should carry out its threat in a single instance, it will be the right and duty of the government of the United States to make such reprisals as will best protect the American forces, and notice is hereby given of the intention of the government of the United States to make such reprisals."

That single paragraph, Entente army officers here said today, will go further in protecting the rights of Americans taken prisoner than anything else. The terrible suffering of British prisoners of war in German prison camps, they say, was due as much to failure of their government, through mistaken notions of sportsmanship, to warn Germany that reprisals were possible than to anything else. At the prisoner of war conference now in progress in Berne, between representatives of the United States and Germany, the latter nation will be warned that she must treat Americans taken prisoners in a humane manner. And it was asserted that steps would be taken to compel her to do so.

"To quicken German understanding, Mr. Lansing said a mouthful," commented a noted foreign military expert on the American reply.

Hurt Playing Football.

The 17 year old son of David Lehner, the shoe dealer on Broadway, is laid up at his parents' home with injuries received Friday playing football. Dr. A. A. Stern, who is attending him, says there is no broken bone but an injury to the kidneys, which can be cured. The boy is getting along finely and may be able to get out inside of two weeks.

NO VOTE FOR N. Y. SOLDIERS ABROAD

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Oct. 1.—No election commission will be permitted to visit the battle fields of France this fall by order of the war department. New York state men and women in the service overseas will not be given an opportunity of voting in the present campaign, through a ruling of the war department. There will be no wastage, however, of the election supplies which were prepared for use overseas, for these will be used in handling the soldier vote of this state in the larger training camps in this country. The election commission which this state proposed to send abroad, and which was to have sailed this week, will remain at home.

The order issued by Benedict Crowell, acting secretary of war, says: "While the war department is desirous of assisting the states in every way possible to take the votes of members of the American Expeditionary Forces in both the primary and general elections, this assistance will necessarily be based on the condition that the taking of the votes will not seriously interfere with military operations. At the present time, owing to the condition and constant movement of our military forces in Europe, it is not considered practicable to permit the commissioners to go to France or England for this purpose; nor is it practicable to attempt to secure in any manner the votes of our soldiers abroad until military conditions are such as to permit it."

The New York state men in the training camps in this country will be afforded an opportunity of voting.

TWO GERMAN DIVISIONS TRAPPED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, Oct. 1.—The annihilation or capture of two complete German divisions in the Argonne forest seemed a certainty today. The two divisions are trapped in the forest which has been practically surrounded by General Gouraud's French army on the west and the American army on the east. The two Allied forces are reported to have effected a junction in the valley of the Aire, on the north of the forest. If they have the last means of retreat for the Germans from the forest has been cut off.

General Gouraud's army is today nearing Monthois and the fall of that important city is believed near. The Germans have been fighting stubbornly, contesting every foot of ground, but the French have pushed them back steadily.

Premier Clemenceau watched the fighting in the Champagne, Sunday. He made his way to a front line trench and watched the fighting from the firing step.

SUDDEN DEATH OF JAMES H. WILLIAMS

Found Sitting in Doorway of Nekos's Candy Kitchen, Corner Broadway and Thomas Street, Unable to Talk—Died on Way to Hospital.

James H. Williams of No. 33 Third avenue, died this morning while being conveyed to the Kingston City Hospital. He was employed by the West Shore in the tower at the Broadway crossing. He had evidently at the completion of his period of duty walked to the corner of Broadway and Thomas street to take the Colonial car to his home. He was found unable to talk in the doorway of the Nekos Candy Kitchen by Mr. Haggerty and John Emmett. A telephone call had been sent to police headquarters for the city ambulance, but later the call was cancelled, as Mr. Williams was conveyed to the Kingston City Hospital in an automobile. As they were preparing to carry him into the hospital it was found that he was dead. He was a man about 60 years of age. This was about 7 o'clock this morning. His wife is Mrs. Hannah Williams.

Milk Dealers Defer Action.

The retail milk dealers of this city at their meeting at the court house last evening discussed the action of the Dairymen's League taken Saturday to raise the wholesale price of milk from the August contract price of 6 cents a quart to 8¾ cents. No action was taken by the retail dealers as to accepting the contract or to raising the retail price per quart.

Flags of Allied Nations.

Judge Clearwater had the front of his law offices on Wall street, in the Ulster County Savings Institution building decorated Monday with eleven silk flags, one for each of the Allied nations in the great world war. The decorations were greatly admired by the many whose attention was attracted by the patriotic display.

FLANDERS AND CAMBRAI DRIVES MAKE PROGRESS

Allied Iron Ring Closes Tighter Around Cambrai and St. Quentin—French Advance in Champagne—Americans Playing Brilliant Part.

Although hostilities have ceased on the Balkan front as a result of the armistice and the British are "mopping up" what is left of the Turkish forces in Palestine, fighting continues fiercely on a great part of the western front.

The fighting there is a gigantic battle between the German and Allied armies, and not a struggle for terrain and strategic position. General Foch is delivering a staggering blow on Ludendorff's force.

This mammoth engagement is entirely different from any other battle of the war on the western front because the Allies have not massed all of their best troops and all of their available artillery at any single point or at any few points but are battering forward everywhere, from the Yser to the Meuse against the enemy masses.

The Germans must fall back at various points to avoid being utterly smashed, thus permitting the Allies to drive in deep wedges resulting in a realignment of the entire front.

While practically the entire front is aflame Hindenburg cannot shift troops because he is menaced everywhere equally. He must throw them against the oncoming Allies until his forces are shattered and then withdraw the survivors as best he can.

It must be remembered that the struggle is more or less of a man to man fight as the forces now are relatively equal and Foch's wish is to nail the enemy in the present positions and beat them there instead of driving them back to their interior dedefense lines. To drive them back would shorten the front and thereby give the enemy forces greater density. Thus the resistance opposing the Americans between the Argonne and the Meuse is entirely according to expectations as Ludendorff is pushing up fresh divisions, continually, which he can ill afford to spare in view of the tremendous blows being inflicted at Champagne, Rheims, the Chemin-des-Dames, St. Quentin, Cambrain and in Flander.

London, Oct. 1.—(10:30 a. m.)—British troops have captured the village of Levergies, five miles north of St. Quentin, Field Marshal Haig reported to the war office today.

Cambrai's capture is imminent. English and Canadians are closing in on it steadily.

Field Marshal Haig reported that the Germans have set fire to the city.

Fighting was begun again this morning north of St. Quentin to Cambrai, the British field marshal reported. The villages of Proville and Tilloy were captured in the advance on Cambrai.

London, Oct. 1.—(1:37 p. m.)—British and Belgian forces on the Flanders front have cut the Roulers-Menin road and have advanced within three miles of the German base of operations at Courtrai, it was learned from an authoritative source this afternoon.

Paris, Oct. 1.—Two more villages in Champagne, Binarville and Conde-les-Autry, have been captured by the French and further progress has been made in the district between the Aisne and Vesle rivers, the French war office announced today.

(Binarville is only slightly more than six miles west of Varennes, which the Americans captured in their big drive in the Argonne forest area last week.)

Since September 26 the French have taken over 13,000 prisoners in Champagne and over 300 cannon.

PASS LOAN QUOTAS.

Thirty-Nine Towns in New York District Over Top.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Oct. 1.—Thirty-nine towns in the New York district have passed their quotas for the fourth Liberty loan, it was announced here today. The number is expected to exceed a hundred before nightfall, according to figures which are pouring in steadily.

Today is "China Day" at the Altar of Liberty in Madison Square, and among the leading speakers will be V. K. Wellington Koo, the Chinese minister to the United States.

Official tabulations in New York city are far behind the unofficial total as it is reported that the clerks at the federal reserve bank are swamped with pledges.

Austria Mourns.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Oct. 1.—That Austria-Hungary looks upon the signing of the armistice between the Allies and Bulgaria as a calamity is indicated in the following dispatch received today from Vienna:

"A quarter of a million Austro-Hungarians arrived in Sofia too late."

To Succeed Hertling?

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Oct. 1.—President Fehrenbach, of the Reichstag, will succeed Count von Hertling as imperial chancellor, according to a wireless press report received here today.

SEASONABLE DISHES.

Cereals, even the leftovers from breakfast, may be used to make delicious and nourishing dishes as puddings and desserts.

Date Hominy Pudding.—Soak a cupful of hominy in four cupfuls of water with a teaspoonful of salt over night. Cook in a double boiler until the liquid is absorbed, then stir in a cupful of honey, a grating of nutmeg and the grated rind of a lemon. Grease a pudding mold and in the bottom place four dates. Cover with an inch of the cooked hominy and arrange a row of dates around the dish, pour in the remainder of the hominy, cover and steam two hours. When done, unmold and serve cold with cream and sugar or hot with a sweet sauce.

Soy Bean Loaf.—Wash and drain well one pound of soy beans, place them in a saucepan and cover with plenty of cold water; put in an onion stuck with a clove, a little salt, a bay leaf and a half teaspoonful of thyme, tied in a bit of muslin. Cover the sauce pan and cook at a low temperature until the beans are tender, adding more water if needed. When cold put through a meat chopper, season with salt and pepper, stir in a half cupful of catsup, two canned pimentos and the whites of two hard-cooked eggs chopped fine; mix well, turn out on a floured board, brush over with the beaten yolk of egg and sprinkle with bread crumbs. Place in a greased pan and bake in a moderate oven three-quarters of an hour. Garnish with parsley. Serve either hot or cold.

Chili Con Carne.—Cut two pounds of round steak into small square pieces. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter substitute in a saucepan and when hot add the steak, fry brown; then add one cupful of boiling water and four tablespoonfuls of rice. Cook until tender. Add three canned red peppers cut in pieces, one cupful of cooked beans, two parboiled onions cut in slices, one tablespoonful of flour, four cloves, one clove of garlic, chopped, a teaspoonful of salt and cook until the gravy is of the right consistency. Serve garnished with parsley.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Mrs. Floyd Every of 91 Elmendorf street was pleasantly surprised on Monday evening by a number of her friends in honor of her birthday. Refreshments were served and the guests departed, wishing Mrs. Every many more happy birthdays.

Saturday was a fine golfing day at the Twaalfskill Club, and the golfers were out in force. Mrs. G. D. B. Hasbrouck, Mrs. G. Wallace Codwise and Mrs. Charles Tappen, assisted by Miss Elise Hasbrouck, Miss Ellen Hasbrouck, Miss Louise Schoonmaker, Miss Eleanor Van Deusen and Miss Florence Tappen, were the hostesses. Roses in large masses formed the floral decorations.

Maurer-Loyd.

Miss Margaret Loyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Loyd, of East Kingston, and Joseph Maurer, son of Mr. and Mrs Peter Maurer, of Connelly, were united in marriage Sunday afternoon at St. Colman's Church, East Kingston, by the Rev. Francis P. J. Cummings. Miss Anna Loyd, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid and Ira Maurer, cousin of the groom, acted as best man. After the ceremony there was a wedding supper served at the home of the bride's parents, which was enjoyed by the very near relatives of the bride and groom. After a short trip Mr. and Mrs. Maurer will reside in their newly furnished home in Connelly, N. Y. Many handsome presents in cut glass, China and silverware were given to the young couple

GIVE PURSE TO REV. BROWN.

Former Assistant Pastor at St. Joseph is Chaplain.

The Rev. Thomas B. Brown, assistant at the Church of Our Lady of Victory, One Hundred and Seventy-first street and Webster avenue, is now serving God and country as chapain, Fort Hamilton, Brooklyn

As a slight token of appreciation for the work he had performed, the members of the Rosary and Altar Societies assembled in a body in the basement of the church and presented him with a purse

In addressing the society Father Brown remarked that he was deeply moved at the appreciation of his little efforts during the past year.—Catholic News.

Before accepting the call to the New York city parish Father Brown was for a number of years the assistant pastor of St. Joseph's Church of this city. He made a host of friends in Kingston and after receiving his commission paid a two weeks' visit here renewing old acquaintances. While in Kingston he was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Phelan.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Oct. 1.—Activity was shown in all the various groups at the opening of the stock market today, at the high levels which has been established since the beginning of the military movement leading up to the submission of Bulgaria. There was heavy trading in the steel industrials. The oil stocks were irregular with high priced issues which made such violent gains in yesterday's trading reacting slightly from the highest level which was then reached. Public Utilities were again strong, Consolidated Gas advancing 1½ to 94¾, and Peoples Gas moving up one point to 50. Steel Common indicated the general tendency of steel industrials, falling 1½ to 111. The greatest loss in that group was in Bethlehem Steel B, which dropped 2 points to 77⅝. The railroads were accumulated by many who have placed them in the highest class as peace stocks. Southern Railway moved up ¼ to 28½, Union Pacific ⅝ to 127⅝, and Reading ⅜ to 90⅛. The higher levels established in early dealings were followed by substantial recessions. Mexican Petroleum was the most active feature, advancing to above 121 after its early reaction to 118½. Texas Oil rallied from 185½ to 188. The railroad stocks generally receded after vigorous advances. Steel Common dropped 2⅝ to 110⅞, while most of the other steel stocks dropped around 2 points.

The market closed heavy; government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds irregular.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Prull expect to move to Port Ewen about the middle of the month.

Miss Edith Jones has returned home from Mt. Meenahga.

Miss Verna Pine is spending a few days with Mrs. Arthur Christiana of Kingston and attended the launching of the Esopus at the Island Dock Monday morning.

Arthur J. Keator oqf Kingston spent Sunday at his home in this place.

Robert Stolls, Bert Davis and W. Pine were in Rosendale Saturday evening.

Presbyterians to Meet.

Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock the teachers, officers and older scholars of the Rondout Presbyterian Sunday school will hold a meeting at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Charles G. Ellis. As this is first meeting since the summer vacation it is hoped that every teacher, officer and older scholar will make a special effort to be present. Plans for the fall and winter will be discussed and final arrangements made for observing Rally Day this Sunday. A very enjoyable and profitable is assured all who attend.

Eskimo Kayak.

One of the oddest craft ever seen near Provincetown, Mass., was the Eskimo kayak, in which Explorer Donald B. MacMillan paddled about. The kayak is a man's canoe and is built on a frame on which is stretched skin, water tight. It is handled with a double paddle, is decked over, and, with an expert in it, is one of the safest small craft known.

ABOUT THE FOLKS.

Mrs. Charles DeForest has returned from Connecticut after a delightful trip.

Patrick Dugan of Albany, Democratic candidate for supreme court justice, was in town today.

M. Harvey, of the Athens News, and Superintendent and Mrs. J. F. Ford and family were among the Athenians in town Monday.

Private Richard Schick of East Chester street is seriously ill with pneumania at Camp Jackson in South Carolina. His parents are at his bedside.

Hyman Linson, shoemaker at 105 North Front street, was called to New York Monday by a telegram announcing his brother had been injured and was in a hospital there.

Mrs. George Lowther of Hasbrouck avenue has been called to Maybrook by a telegram that her two sons, James M. and George, Jr., are both seriously ill with pneumonia.

Henry W. Batsch of 25 Van Deusen street, who is taking a radio course at Pelham Bay Radio School, was home on a short furlough. His address is U. S. N Radio School, 11th Regiment Barrack E, Pelham Bay Park, N. Y.

Miss Helen Kniskern of 136 Clinton avenue has returned to Syracuse, where she is pursuing a course in home economics in the Syracuse University. She was accompanied by her brother, W. Monroe Kniskern, who is expecting to enroll in the Student Army Training Corps at the same institution

ESOPUS

Esopus, Sept. 30.—A business meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society will be held at the home of Mrs John H. Beaver on Wednesday afternoon of this week October 2, at 2:15 All members are requested to be present

Mis Marian Mott, local chairman of the Home Defense Organization, has filled out twenty nine cards giving the weight and measurement of children under six years of age in Esopus. A few were above normal and some below, but, on an average they are pretty fair samples of "Young America"

The usual services will be resumed in the Methodist Church on next Sabbath, October 6, the pastor Rev J. J. Lyons having returned from his vacation Much is being said these days about "Keeping the home fires burning" and one of the best means of so doing is to keep interested in church affairs.

If every family or some part of the family were to occupy the pews at every service the soldier boys upon their return would surely find the fires all aglow

Miss Mary O'Connor of New York city was a recent guest of her cousin, Mrs. John J. House

Mr. and Mrs Joseph Mottolese, and three children of Greenwich, Conn, motored to Esopus last week for the purpose of gathering grapes and pears which have been ripening during the past few weeks.

Writing of grapes reminds us of the fact that Rev. Roberts was the recipient of a basket of most luscious fruit of this variety one day last week, presented by Lemuel Freer of West Esopus

Miss Estelle House recently returned to New York city to be present for the opening of Savage's School of Physical Culture. This will be Miss House's senior year and the time will be well filled with school duties.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burgess and three children recently motored from their home in Hartford, Conn., to Esopus to visit Mrs. Burgess's sister, Mrs. Hasbrouck Freer, and brother, A. Ralsey Mott, also her father, Frank Mott, who spent the summer here. He will return to Poughkeepsie as soon as the work on his farm has been completed and will resume business for the winter.

Mrs. George Ryer of Kingston, with her little daughter, Etheline, visited her cousin, Mrs. John P. Ganoung, on Friday and Saturday last.

Ernest Palen, formerly of Esopus, but now of Kingston, and Miss Carl, also of Kingston, drove to this village and called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Martin Sunday afternoon.

For a little while on Saturday evening there was much excitement on the state road just north of the Methodist Church, when Prince, the well-known collie, owned by Fred Martin, was run over by an automobile. He started to run after a car in one direction when another car appeared from the opposite direction and the lights so dazzled the dog that he stopped in front of one of the machines and the result was a cracked hip and a number of cuts on one leg. Prince suffered greatly during Saturday night, and on Sunday morning a veterinary surgeon was called. He decided that the dog had a very good chance to recover, although the injury is so high on the hip that it cannot be bandaged. He can now lie down and his appetite is good, but we imagine when he gets well that he will steer clear of automobiles, both by day and night. Some parts of the car which struck Prince were quite badly bent from running up a little bank and striking a tree, but fortunately no one was injured.

CHICHESTER.

Chichester, Sept. 29—Mr. and Mrs. William O. Schwarzwaelder returned from Boston on Tuesday.

Charles McDonough and family have moved to Kingston, where he has employment.

Robert Wright, who has been working in Tannersville for some time, is again employed in the factory here.

Melissa Shultis is visiting friends in Delaware county.

Jesse Hornbeck of Sullivan county is visiting friends in town.

Alma and Margaret Keator spent Saturday in Kingston.

Several women are picking apples for William O. Schwarzwaelder.

Mrs Paul Schnickel of Poughkeepsie has been spending some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Armond Grant.

SUFFRAGE BILL SEEMS DOOMED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Oct. 1.—Still facing what seemed almost certain defeat, suffrage leaders announced this afternoon that they would send the woman suffrage amendment to a vote today. It is frankly acknowledged that their latest polls showed the anti-suffragists still in control of 34 votes.

SOUTH RONDOUT.

South Rondout, Oct. 1.—The Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. Church will hold their annual fair Wednesday and Thursday, November 20 and 21.

On Sunday evening, October 6, the rally day services will be held in the M. E. Church. Everybody is invited to attend.

HURLEY.

Hurley, Sept. 30.—Liberty Loan Number Four. This loan is now on with a good start and much interest. As Speaker Clark put it on a recent Saturday, the government is financing the war with about one third taxes and two thirds loans. If the amount necessary is not raised by loan, then it must be raised by taxation, loan means investment with a nice rate of interest on the money to the holder of the loan; taxes, well we all know what they mean. Hence the loan is an attractive investment and at the same time aids the government in carrying on the war and more than all backs up and takes care of the men "over there," who are putting up with all sorts of discomfort and risk. We, at home, are spared all this. We all feel proud of what our friends, neighbors and fellow citizens are doing in the war zone. Back up your pride with your money. The quota for the town of Hurley has just been awarded It is $16,000. It is up to the whole town now to show what we can do. John Saxe has charge of the upper end of the town. Here is in this village, you can subscribe at both stores; or you will be called upon by those in charge, Mr. Warren and Dr. Nash.

Mr. and Mrs. T. D Hotaling and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Snyder, who have been camping out at Moonhaw, have returned home. Winfred Snyder spent Thursday with them. They report a fine time.

Mrs. Swartwout has been visiting at Mr. Dumond's house.

Miss Laura Newkirk was a visitor at the Ten Eyck home the early part of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. Burns are up for a few days to have a little vacation and to close up the house "Bean-Pole Lodge."

J. J. Brodhead has returned from his fishing trip to Canada. The party fished in Lake Gananoque, Ontario, about eighteen miles over the border from Clayton, New York. The first day's fishing was the best. The party had two guides, who piloted the party to the "best" grounds. Mr. Brodhead's catch was 26 fish, salmon, bass and pike, weighing all told about 125 pounds; the largest was a pike weighing 7 pounds, while the smallest—well there was no smallest fish—only some were not quite so large as others. Many of his friends were treated to a specimen and the writer claims that the pike he had was the finest fish he ever tasted. John P. Woolsey was also a disciple of the fishing art for he was a member of the party and enjoyed every minute of the time and his results showed him also a skillful fisherman.

Mr. Durfee has a return of the fishing fever and left Saturday very early for the fishing grounds on the upper part of the reservoir. Mr. Spencer went with him.

Miss Mabel Hiller went to Pittsburgh, Pa., on Tuesday last to attend the vocational school there, in a course in dietetics.

Mrs. Maxon is visiting in Kingston

Rex Baker, in his naval uniform, passed through the village on Saturday.

Charles Hiller is in the village awaiting his draft call.

Benefit Dance Well Attended.

The dance of the Central Athletic Club held last evening in St. Mary's Hall was well attended and every one present enjoyed themselves, as the music was by Miller's orchestra. The proceeds of the dance will go to support the members of the club who are in the service and those who will soon enter. There were also a number of Liberty Bonds sold there last evening. The members of the Central Athletic Club wish to express their many thanks to all who attended or tried to make the dance the success it was.

Turkish Situation Hopeful.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Oct. 1.—(11:41 a. m.)—Although no official information has been received here of Turkey's intentions to effect an armistice as Bulgaria did, it was learned at noon that there is every reason to be hopeful.

Talaat Pasha, the opponent to Enver Pasha, is the probable leader of the reported peace move.

Enver Pasha has been leader of the German element among Turkish statesmen.

KINGSTON, N. Y., OCT. 1, 1918.

Everybody has been praising the genius who originated the idea of gasolineless Sundays based on an appeal to the American people without the compulsion of an official order. Everybody sees now how much more effective and better in every way would have been the heatless Mondays of last winter if they had been established on the same basis. Of course, it is not expected that everybody charged with responsibility shall be a genius, but it is fair to hope that when once the value of an idea has been demonstrated lesser minds will adopt it. The Food Administration should be one of the first to act on the hint. The most puzzling difficulty confronting that organization is the distribution of sugar, yet it admits of an easy solution. Sugar is far from being a necessary for the table. For scores of centuries men knew nothing of it and got on very well. It is useful in army rations and for preserving fruits and so forth, but as a condiment it can just as well be wholly dispensed with. It spoils the taste of tea, coffee and salads. Any one who puts it on melons or fruits advertises his vulgarity. There should be no such thing as a sugar bowl on any table and any person who asks for one should be treated with the same withering contempt as the Sunday joy rider. Under existing circumstances it is a crime to eat candy. Instead of the present system of rationing out sugar, which involves an infinite amount of bookkeeping and trouble in general, there should be issued an appeal like that which produced the quiet Sundays we have had lately. Most people do not know what coffee and other articles we have mentioned taste like. If they found out, there would never again be any trouble about the supply or the price of sugar.

Perhaps the profiteer in food and other necessaries of life is the most contemptible type of individual known, but the political profiteer runs him a close second. Although the President has declared that "politics is adjourned," a good many of his henchmen, whom he ought to be able to keep under control if he desired, are trying to capture the fool vote this fall by representing that it is the Democratic party, and not the United States, which is at war with Germany. No less important a body than the Democratic National Committee has sent out a letter asserting that the election of a Republican Congress would be "a source of comfort and elation to the Kaiser and his cohorts." Doubtless it would tickle the Kaiser almost to death to hear of the defeat of our own Republican Congressman, Mr. Ward, who has supported every war measure with all his strength, by his Democratic opponent, whose attitude is unknown. How the Kaiser would exult over the election of Henry Ford as Democratic Senator from Michigan—the man who spent a fortune in pacifist propaganda and who sent a "peace ship" to Europe to end the war in favor of Germany. This would be especially gratifying in view of the fact that Ford's opponent, Commander Newberry, is an officer in our Navy, in which his two sons have also enlisted. The fact is that from the beginning Republicans have made a better war record than Democrats. Any attempt to make it appear otherwise will prove a boomerang, since only a fraction of the voters are fools.

IGNORANCE IN COURT.

Knowledge of American history is hardly to be expected of a Kaiser-worshipper, a German even after residence of many years in this country, but an American prosecuting attorney would naturally be supposed to know something. Ignorance displayed on both sides in the trial of the editors of the Philadelphia Tageblatt gives a touch of comedy to an otherwise very serious matter. On September 26 Louis Werner, editor-in-chief of the Tageblatt, while defending one of his seditious editorials declared that the sinking of American ships by German U-boats was no just cause for war and belligerently demanded: "When England sank the Alabama did the United States go to war?" To this preposterous question Owen J. Roberts, "special counsel for the Government" in the prosecution, reasonably replied: "Don't you know that this one sinking brought the country on the verge of war? Don't you know that President Lincoln insisted on reparation?" From the newspaper reports it does not appear that anybody in the court room made either objection or correction.

As every intelligent school boy knows, for two years the government at Washington desired nothing so much as the "sinking" of the Alabama, the Confederate cruiser so named having during that time destroyed no less than sixty-five merchant ships flying the Stars and Stripes. "England" did not "sink" the Alabama, but an English firm built her for the Confederate government, and that was the Washington government's grievance. The Alabama was finally sunk in battle by the United States warship Kearsarge off the coast of France. Continued protest finally induced the British government to arbitrate the "Alabama claims." The international court sitting at Geneva in 1872 decreed that the British government had "failed to use due diligence in the performance of its neutral obligations" and awarded the United States damages amounting to $15,500,000. The Government's prosecuting attorney at Philadelphia seems to be as misinformed about all this as is the accused German editor himself.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

Bill—"Did you go to the oyster supper at the church?" Jill—"I sure did." Bill—"Were there many there?" Jill—"I found one."—Yonkers Statesman.

She—"Do you think we ought to pay three dollars each for those theatre tickets?" "They're worth it! The play may not be good, but we will be warm for a couple of hours."—Life.

"Well, my lad," said the facetious man to the elevator boy, "I see in your position you have a chance to rise." "Oh, yes," growled the boy, "but I get called down every time I do it."—Boston Transcript.

"You must never be too proud to admit that you are wrong." "My friend," replied Senator Sorghum, "some of my suspicions are getting so serious that I only hope I'll have a chance to admit I'm wrong."—Washington Star.

"Even when a young woman rejects you for some other suitor it is not the part of a gentleman to criticize her." "No?" questioned the rejected man. "Positively not. None but a cad would in any way reflect upon a young lady." "Say, can't I even suggest that I think she has poor taste?"—Detroit Free Press.

Wise Tommy.

The other day Tommy's uncle asked him the name of Mary's young man.

"I call him April Showers," replied Tommy.

"April Showers!" cried his astonished uncle. "Whatever makes you call him such a ridiculous name as that?"

"Because he brings May flowers," Tommy explained.—Exchange.

One Way Out.

For one full hour the small child had cried, and the other passengers on the train were getting tired.

"Oh, dear," moaned the young mother distractedly, "I really don't know what to do with the child."

A sudden gleam of hope came into the eyes of the man sitting opposite.

"Shall I open the window for you, Madam?" he inquired politely.—Exchange.

A Different Story.

A farmer, calling at a dentist's, promptly and cheerfully stated the business as soon as he entered the operating room.

"A tooth to be pulled," he said, "and I'll pay nothing extra for gas. Just haul it out if it does hurt."

The dentist smiled. "You're plucky, sir," he said. "Let me see the tooth, please."

"Oh, 'tisn't me that's got the toothache at all," said the farmer; "it's my wife. She'll be here in a minute."—Exchange.

Well, It's True.

They were discussing that joke about getting down off an elephant.

"How do you get down?" asked the joksmith for the fourth time.

"You climb down."

"Wrong!"

"You take a ladder and get down."

"Wrong!"

"Well, you take the trunk line down."

"No, not quite. You don't get down off an elephant; you get it off a goose."—Pittsburgh Leader.

Furniture of Enduring Beauty

TO REALLY own beautiful furniture, nobly built from fine woods—furniture that reproduces the wonderful ideas of the greatest masters of French and English design—is satisfaction unequalled. Such furniture is not only an education in good taste, it is little short of a daily inspiration—an uplift—to every member of the household.

The Dining Room, for example, where the family comes three times daily for 365 days in the year, can be made into a truly wonderful room if a little care is devoted to its furnishing.

AT a special meeting of the American Standard Motion Picture Machine Company, Inc., held at the principal office at Ellenville, Ulster County, New York, September 23rd, 1918, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, there has recently appeared before the public at large information concerning a corporation bearing the same or a similar name to the American Standard Motion Picture Machine Company, Inc., to the effect that such corporation was not in good standing and was undergoing great difficulties and had suffered greatly in reputation concerning its general business standing, and

Whereas, such information has appeared to affect this corporation, and innumerable inquiries have been made indicating that a number of large concerns were of the impression that such information referred to this corporation, and

Whereas, such information appears to have caused damage to the credit and standing of this corporation, and

Whereas, it appears that the name of this corporation indicates that it is specializing in the manufacture of motion picture machines and appliances thereto, though it, in fact, manufactures any and all kinds of machinery and appliances thereto, and

Whereas, it has been determined that the name of this corporation, has for some time proven of disadvantage to the credit, standing and business of this corporation,

NOW, THEREFORE, be it RESOLVED:

That the American Standard Motion Picture Machine Company, Inc., change its name so that the name of this corporation shall read MASTER MACHINE TOOL COMPANY, INC.

INFLUENZA SPREAD ALARMS NEW YORK

By Telegraph to the Freeman.

New York, Oct. 1.—One hundred and twenty deaths from Spanish influenza and pneumonia and nine hundred and sixty-six new cases were reported in the metropolitan district during the past 24 hours, it was announced today by the board of health.

As the result of the alarming increase in both deaths and number of new cases Dr. Royal S. Copeland, health commissioner, called a meeting for this afternoon of all the heads of his departments to devise ways and means to cope with the epidemic.

Dr. Copeland also asked for volunteer nurses and physicians to aid in the fight.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Underhill of Partition street are at Camp Dix, N. J., visiting their son, Private Albert Underhill, who is ill in the base hospital.

Word has been received that Private Barton Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson of Mill street had been "gassed" over there.

PRAISES WOMEN'S PART.

Eulogized By Judge Clearwater In Albany Address.

The Albany newspapers devote several columns to Judge Clearwater's address at the old Dutch Reformed Church in that city on Sunday evening, stating that over two thousand people listened with the closest attention and heartily applauded what he said. The judge attacked Germany with great severity, saying that the war no longer was one between autocracy and democracy, but had become one between barbarism and civilization; that nations, like men, were judged by their standards and ideals, and that the standards of Germany had ceased to be those of civilization, and had returned to those of barbaric nations and tribes. He warned his audience against an optimistic belief that because of the surrender of Bulgaria, the war would soon terminate, stating that Germany had practiced the severest economy and had accumulated vast resources by the heaviest taxation from the time when forty-eight years ago the old emperor was crowned by Bismark in the grand hall of Armor in the Palace of Versailles. In his opinion the only way to deal with the situation was to fight to a finish. He fully agreed that there could be no negotiated peace, and that the only peace worth having would be one dictated by the allied nations in the palace at Berlin, or at Potsdam, a peace which would result in the disintegration of the German Empire and its dissolution into its twenty-six constituent kingdoms and duchies.

The judge paid a most eloquent tribute to the women of America. He said he had been a strong opponent of woman suffrage, but if the women of America wanted suffrage he was willing they should have it. What they deserved was crowns, and if they wanted crowns they should have them. He stated that his commendation was not confined to the women of which the world heard, but particularly was his eulogy directed to the women whose names never appeared in the public prints but twice, when they were married and when they died. The heroic women of America were the women who did their own work, their own washing, made their own clothes, took care of their own babies, cooked the food for the family, did the thousand and one things which a good woman does for her husband and her children. These were the women of whom there were millions throughout the land who deserved recognition, and the great rewards which unfortunately even a grateful republic had not in its power to bestow.

Will You Help Our "Home Town" Boys?

Almost simultaneously with the declaration of war, the conscription bill was passed. Hundreds of thousands of young men were called to the colors in the first great draft, thousands are now going into service every month.

Boys from our town are among them! They are the ones your Liberty Bond money will help! Do you think more of the enemy's soldiers than you do of our home town boys?

After all, this war is a very personal affair. It's your war and our war. Our sons are going "over there" to protect us—and it is up to us to show ourselves worthy of their sacrifice. BUY BONDS OF THE 4TH LIBERTY LOAN TOMORROW

BODLEY SHOT.

Boy Found on Railroad Track With Bullet in Head.

William J. Bodley, 13, son of Joseph Bodley of Cementon, died at Catskill Sunday night from a bullet wound in his head. It is not known how Bodley was shot. He was found by Clinton Moore, nightwatchman at the Alpha Portland Cement Company, lying unconscious on the company's spur on the West Shore railroad with a bullet hole in his forehead. Moore took the boy to his home and Dr. Dean W. Jennings of Catskill was summoned. The boy died a short time after his arrival at Catskill. Coroner William M. Rapp and District Attorney H. McK. Curtis ocnducted an investigation, which revealed that the boy had been playing with a number of his comrades earlier in the afternoon. The autopsy showed the wound was made by a 22 calibre bullet.

James Ferrase, 12, one of Bodley's playmates, was arrested and taken to Catskill, but was released Monday morning. Ferrase has a 22 calibre rifle, but he has proven he was not connected with the affair. An inquest will take place today.

BAND OVATION BACKED BY BONDS

Reception Given To French Soldier-Musicians Testimonial To Spirit Of France Supported By $227,900.

Thousands of people assembled on the City Hall Green, and in the vicinity Monday afternoon to do honor to the French Band, composed of fifty-six celebrated musicians, and the greeting of the people was backed up by a greeting of dollars for the Fourth Liberty Loan, inasmuch as $227,900 worth of bonds were subscribed.

From the moment that the soldier musicians, in their war worn uniforms of French blue, began to step from the autos driven by members of the Motor Corps, they were greeted with cheers by the crowd, and as they made their way to the platform decorated with the flag of France, the Belgian flag, the Italian flag, and the Stars and Stripes An ovation was given Band Master Captain Pares as he accompanied Mayor Canfield to the band stand.

The program was opened with prayer, a war prayer, offered by the Rev. Dr. Putnam Cady.

Mayor Canfield then presented the French Band of fighting men and heroes, whose first selection was a marvelously beautiful rendition of the Star Spangled Banner, which was greeted with tumultuous applause. The next number played by this wonderful—from the musician's viewpoint—orchestral band, was "Salute at the 85th Regimental March," by Petit.

At a word from the mayor, one of the seniors of the Kingston High School—and by the way the High School students massed close to the platform, were most enthusiastic cheerers for the band—Ralph Hiller of Hurley, stepped onto the stage, and modestly presented a letter of greeting in French, beautifully illuminated in French colors, from the high school students, offering the same with a few words of greeting in French. This so pleased Captain Pares, that he insisted on shaking hands with young Hiller, and returning his greeting in such careful French that the students studying this language could readily understand the great musician. Then there was another burst of applause.

It was a matter of the deepest regret to the members of the Colonial City Band that previously-made contract engagements kept them from welcoming this band. Representatives of the Kingston Symphony Society extended the greetings.

Mr. Vernan then gave a brief sketch of the band whose coming to Kingston in the interest of the fourth Liberty Loan was such an event and whose playing of "Le Pere la Victoire," by Ganne, charmed the assemblage.

He told how the fifty-six musicians of the band did not go into the war as musicians but when the German hordes flew at the throats of the Belgians and the French, these men were among the first to respond to the French call to arms. They went as fighters, not as musicians. All but three of the fifty-six were either gassed or wounded, and most of them had seen service on the western front for three years. A great many of them were the Croix de Guerre or some other decoration denoting French military honor.

Captain Gabrielle Pares has been in the French army service for thirty years, and wore many decorations, among them that of the legion of honor, at the mention of which there was a burst of applause. He is distinguished as a composer, and the leader of that famous orchestral band "Guarde de Republicaine," which has played at some of our notable expositions on previous occasions. When, about a year ago, France felt the imperative need of America's aid, and a general inspirting of her men, she called from among the fighters, Captain Pares, and these men, all of whom have been for some years notable soloists, thus forming an orchestral band that held the listener spell bound by the exquisiteness of the orchestration, the skill of the performance, and the depth of feeling shown through the music.

One of the most beautiful band selections followed, the passages for the piccolo being artistic beyond words, entitled "March Indienne," by Selenik. "America" has never sounded more inspiring than it did played as does our own band, with that dignity of tempo appropriate to the words of the hymn, and as it was possible with such an assemblage of instruments under the leadership of such a master conductor.

Mayor Canfield then introduced the first speaker of the afternoon, a man just returned from the front Mr. Debevoise and whose two sons are now fighting in France. He told of witnessing one of the first gas attacks made by the Huns, and of the awful death agony of the men who fell under the devilish onslaught, and then of the merciful ministrations of the Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A., the K. of C., the Jewish Relief, and backed by his personal experiences put forth a heartstirring and convincing appeal for the purchase of Liberty Bonds, for the furtherance successfully of this war against the Hun

The next speaker to be presented to the people, and who was the main spokesman for the Liberty Loan, was Senator Roach, and what with no end of zinger, a smile that made the whole gathering happy, and lots of fun, Senator Roach, with occasionally a little boosting by the other members of Manager H T. Armstrong's party, certainly did bring out the subscriptions in fine shape. In fact, the senator seemed to be quite irresistible to those persons who had from $50 up which they could subscribe, and as a result the afternoon's sales of bonds amounted to $227,900. One merry incident of the sale and one which will for long years be remembered by the young lady, was inspired by Senator Roach, who promised that the first girl to buy a Liberty bond should be allowed to kiss the band conductor. Miss J. Kolb, 124 Smith avenue, was the favored girl, and was not only the purchaser of the bond but paid for it in cash. When Mr Roach's promise was explained to Captain Pares, he, with expected gallantry of a true Frenchman, did not permit the young girl to offer the salute, but himself saluted her amidst re-echoing cheers.

After the bond selling from the platform, which was carried out in the crowd by members of the Motor Corps and others, the band played "Marche Lorraine" by Ganne, and then finally, with a fervor and a depth of sentiment that was immensely thrilling, the Marseillaise. After this the band was given three deafening cheers and a "tiger" by the crowd, which most reluctantly watched the honored guests leave to take their places in the automobiles. As there was nearly an hour before they were to take the ferry, they were given quite a ride about Kingston, under the leadership of Captain Everett Fowler, of the Home Guard, and head of the Motor Corps.

The entire party spoke enthusiastically of their reception in Kingston, which they stated was the most satisfactory of that tendered them at any place since they had been doing Liberty bond campaigning. They had special words of praise for the manner in which Chief Wood and the police managed the crowds, keeping the large numbers of children in order, and of the efficiency of our motor corps

TABLET FUND NEARLY COMPLETED

Tonight's Meeting of Kingston Industrial Workers to Have Prominent Patriotic Speakers.

The adjourned meeting of the Industrial Workers of Kingston called for tonight to take account of the moneys that have been raised for the purpose of inscribing in imperishable bronze the names of the Kingston boys who have gone to war, is to be made a ratification meeting of this grand work, a patriotic rally and an occasion to rejoice over the prompt responses made to demands on the mercantile and industrial masses for funds.

Today there is lacking the total amount that was fixed in the beginning, only $100. So it is plain that the industrial workers will have gone over the top when the meeting at the city hall is called at 8 o'clock tonight.

The finance and the tablet committees will report—the former fully and the latter making progress. It is not intended to go into a protracted business session for there are to be present able speakers. The main thing to be done was to clean up the financial phase of the situation, that it might be got out of the way for the Liberty Loan drive.

The speakers will be Judge James Jenkins, Secretary Hudson of the Chamber of Commerce, Joseph Herbert, William Van Slyke and William C. DeWitt.

BELGIANS IN DIRE NEED OF CLOTHING

Red Cross Appeals To Us As Only People Not Suffering Privation To Succor Destitute Women And Children.

During this present week the Ulster County Chapter of the Red Cross, as a part of the national organization, is asking that our people, still blessed with a surplus of clothing and food in our war free land see to it that the people, especially the women and children of Belgium, do not suffer, perhaps unto death, for lack of warm garments. What American woman can think of the garments stored away in chest or trunk or storeroom without shame if she does not answer such an appeal as this unconscious one from a well-to-do woman of Brussels:

"Perhaps you will laugh when you hear that I wear a cloak made from my husband's garde civique overcoat, a waist from his football shirt, and a skirt made of a dyed bedsheet. Mother has a suit made of the tablecloth, J. and M. have cloaks made of woolen blankets and S. a dress made of burlap. But all this is only amusing in comparison with the wretchedness of the population After all, we remain calm and confident of victory."

Even the people who have money cannot get, longer the blankets, sheets and tablecloths from which to make clothing for the body, and Mr. Hoover, chairman of the commission for the relief of Belgium, has said:

"They are facing shame, suffering disease and some of them death for lack of clothing this winter. They must be helped. It can come only from us."

This will be the second Red Cross drive for clothing for the suffering people of Belgium, where today all classes are in desperate need of clothes. Mr. Hoover in speaking of that and then this drive says, "Your first campaign yielded magnificent results, bringing in fully 5,000 tons of clothing in good condition. But much more is needed if these war ravaged people are to get through the winter in decency and safety. In the face of brutal coercion and a spiritual suffering they remain splendidly courageous This courage challenges our charity. Let us match the courage of Belgium with the generosity of America."

Women of Kingston, and those of you who from the county came into town yesterday to see and hear the French heroes, is it anything to your credit that these men who offered their lives at the front spoke with surprise, and somewhat of compliment of your pretty shoes, "made of leather!" and your general appearance of being well dressed and happy in the face of such want of even decent clothing as that shown in the letter from the woman of Brussels?

Can you do less than see to it that every garment that you can possibly spare, goes to our Red Cross this week, to be sent overseas before the very cold weather sets in?

A list of the garments especially needed will appear in tomorrow evening's issue of The Freeman, but while waiting for that list, warm clothing for men, women and children, can be gathered together, ready to be taken to the Red Cross headquarters on Broadway.

PLANS MATURE FOR FACTORY CANVASS

The Industrial Committee for the Fourth Liberty Loan is completing final arrangements for the factory canvass, which starts tomorrow morning.

Plans for the Honor Roll and Honor Emblem were announced this afternoon. Every factory is to have its Honor Roll. When 75% of any organization have their names on the Honor Roll, the organization will receive the Honor Emblem. This Honor Emblem is printed on both sides and is to be displayed in their window. As the percentage of names on the Honor Roll increase they will be furnished pasters indicating 80, 85, 90, 95 and 100%, which are to be attached to both sides of the Honor Roll.

ACCORD CLAMBAKE.

Scan This Menu And Your Mouth Will Water.

Preparations are going merrily on for the big clambake of the season, which will be held at Accord, Wednesday afternoon and evening of this week. Everything possible is being done to assure a good time for the crowds of Kingston people and other out-of-town guests of the day. The big tent will be pitched on the grounds of the Rochester Reformed Church on the state road just above the village. The church will be open for all and band music will enliven the evening. Heat will be provided, if the evening is cool.

The first bake is scheduled for 1 p. m., and the succeeding ones are to be ready at 5 and 8 o'clock respectively. Assurance of a plentiful supply of clams for all is given by the fact that the Accordians have ordered 10,000 of the juicy bivalves; moreover there are to be spring chickens in abundance, a hundred or so, and lots of sweet corn, with sweet potatoes and fish, for those who like these comrades of the clam

Those who come for either dinner or supper may expect the best service yet, with skilled waiters in charge, and constant attention to their needs. The band music will come from Lake Mohonk. This is a new attraction for the bake, and should prove a most pleasing one. The price will be $1.50 per plate, with a reduction or children.

The fame of this Accord clambake has extended far, and its annual approach is welcomed by hundreds of Ulster county folks For these and for the newcomers Accord will have a hearty welcome.

SILVER WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. Oakley of Krumville Celebrated Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Oakley of Krumville celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary on Saturday evening last. About fifty relatives and friends were royally entertained, among them relatives from Kingston, Hyde Park, Newcomb, Leibhardt and Samsonville. At 10:30 a sumptuous dinner was served, the table decorations being cut flowers in red, white and blue, and a handsome big wedding cake. Mr. and Mrs. Oakley were the recipients of many handsome and useful gifts, including silver, cut glass and money. The guests voted Mr. and Mrs. Oakley the best of entertainers and wished them many more years of happy married life.

Property Bags Needed.

Any person in the city or vicinity having bright colored chintz or cretonne about 14 inches deep that they are willing to donate for use for Red Cross work are requested to send same to Miss Holmes, Room 2, high school building, for use of the Junior Red Cross in making property bags for the soldiers. D. G. Atkins has been requested to furnish 500 of the bags as Ulster county's quota, also 1,000 scrap books, for convalescents. The bags will be made by the Junior Red Cross of this city and Mr. Atkins is making arrangements to have the scrap books made by pupils of schools throughout the county.

D. A. R. Meeting.

The first autumnal meeting of Wiltwyck Chapter, D. A. R., will be held on Thursday afternoon of this week at 3 o'clock at the chapter house. An interesting and important part of the program will include the burning of the mortgage, which will leave the chapter house free of all debt At this meeting also, delegates to the annual state D. A. R. conference, which will be held at Hornell, will be elected. An especially interesting program will be presented by Mrs. Charles G. Ellis and Mrs. Henry Van Hoevenberg. The local board will meet at 2 o'clock.

UNION CENTER.

Union Center, Sept. 30.—The Sunday school and Christian Endeavor Society have purchased a service flag, which was dedicated on Sunday evening in honor of the following young men from this place, who are in the service: Alfred V. SAUGERTIES MEN INFLUENZA VICTIMS

Leonard McCormick Dies at Camp Devens. And Floyd Spring of Churchland Succumbed at Camp Jackson.

Leonard McCormick, a former Saugerties boy, who enlisted in the U. S. army in July while living in Springfield, Mass., died Sunday at Camp Devens, a victim of influenza. He is survived by his father, E. P. McCormick of Saugerties, and an uncle, Dr. John M. Tracey of Springfield, Mass., an army physician stationed at Camp Devens, Ayer, Mass. The remains were brought to Saugerties today for interment in St. Mary's cemetery.

Floyd Spring of Churchland, town of Saugerties, who left Kingston with the August 27th contingent boys for Camp Jackson, Columbus, died at the camp hospital, according to a telegram received by Mr. Spring's wife this morning He had been stricken with Spanish influenza and this later developed into pneumonia, causing his death Mr. Spring before entering the army was employed by Plumber Yates Van Keuren. Mr. Spring is the first Saugerties young man in the army corps to succumb to this disease although there are a number ill with it.

BROTHERS ARE PARTED BY DRAFT

The Two Pierce Boys Always Together—Both Taken in Draft; Separated at Camp Dix—One Dead, One in France.

Edward and Wesley Pierce, two East Kingston boys, grew up together at home and were never apart. At play or at work they were always to be found near each other. They were both happy, cheerful, good natured young men of French descent, and by their kindly disposition became endeared to all who knew them.

Then suddenly our country was plunged into war, and both brothers were drafted They both passed the physical examination and both left for Camp Dix in the big contingent that went in July. At camp for the first time in their lives the two boys were parted and sent to different divisions.

Edward was the first one to cross the big pond, and a week or so later Wesley wrote his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anatole Pierece, bidding them goodby and stating that his division would shortly leave for parts unknown. Then came the word that he was seriously ill with pneumonia in the base hospital at Camp Dix where he died last Tuesday The body was brought to his home in East Kingston and a military funeral was held Saturday morning, and he was buried with military honors in St. Mary's cemetery, this city. Boyhood friends acted as bearers. They were James Noble, Frank Pellar, John Carney, Stephen Fay, Charles Tierney and Walter Murray.

Private Edward Pierce is somewhere in France, and his folks have decided not to let him know of his brother's death until later.

The Pierce family are held in high esteem in East Kingston, and have the heartfelt sympathy of their neigbors and friends. Another brother Andrew, and two sisters also survive. The sisters are Miss Alice and Miss Florence.

VICTORY MENUS.

These menus, planned to conserve time, labor and money, to save the foods that are scare and use those of which there is an abundance, are Victory Menus in more senses than one. They are prepared by the Department of Home Economics of the State College of Agriculture and endorsed by the New York State Food Commission.

Wednesday.

Breakfast—Stewed prunes Corn flakes with top milk. Milk toast Coffee.

Lunch or Supper—Bellevue salad. Victory bread. Cookies. Baked pears.

Dinner—Old-fashioned boiled dinner of corned beef, potatoes, onions, carrots, turnips and cabbage. Victory bread. *Fruit jelly with thin cream.

*May be omitted and still leave a balanced meal.

Bellevue Salad.

1 cup cottage cheese, ½ cup peanut butter, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup French dressing, 1 large red apple, lettuce leaves.

Mix the cheese, butter, salt and dressing until well blended; core the apple, cut in 1-3 inch slices and cover each slice with the cheese mixture attractively arranged. Place on lettuce and serve with French dressing.

Baked Pears.

8 hard pears, 1 cup corn syrup, 4 cloves.

Wipe the pears, remove stems and put in an earthen dish; add the corn syrup and cloves and bake in a slow oven for 4 hours, basting occasionally. Serve cold. To hasten the process, the pears may be boiled in a very little water until about one-half done, then the syrup added, and finish cooking in the oven.

Recipes for any of the dishes in these menus, which cannot be found in cook books, may be had by writing to the Department of Home Economics, State College of Agriculture, Ithaca, N. Y.
